teaching reading presented in this manual recognizes 1 that the child must master certain phonic facts before he can have power to solve word problems for himself 2 that it is not possible to reduce every word in the language to a phonic basis and that exceptions to phonic rules should be taught as sight words or wholes it gives the child such mastery over the mechanics of reading that his mind is free to grasp the thought of the sentence when it is presented it will be seen that this is not a new method it is rather a new combination an apt blending of the strong features of several methods no teacher need feel in using it that she must throw aside all the good things that her experience has found to be worth keeping it is comprehensive and has room for all the originality and personal impress that the earnest teacher possesses in order to refer to vowel and consonant sounds with ease and directness and in order that the teacher may have no doubt as to the sound value of a phonogram diacritical marks are used in the index of the word list and occasionally in the manual the marks used are from webster s dictionary no diacritical marks should be used in the work with the pupils
